Reflections from Kantawit Hawong
(a primary school Maths teacher at Darakarm School)

‘Maths Through Stories’ Workshop

Chulalongkorn University, Bangkok
Tuesday 19th May 2026

“Hello, I am Mr. Kantawit Hawong. I am a primary school Mathematics teacher from Darakarm School, Bangkok. From having participated in the ‘Maths Through Stories’ workshop today, I have gained additional ideas and guidelines to adapt and apply to classroom teaching within my own school. Furthermore, this approach can be used for revision, or to have students provide feedback to the teacher regarding lessons they have already learned, showing how they can connect that knowledge to their daily lives. In addition to creating connections within mathematics itself, this method can also be integrated with other subjects like Thai language, English language, and Art. Thank you.”
